QMatrix GmbH donates masks to the German Red Cross in Landau

Bellheim, 15th of April 2020 – The managing directors Tobias Hoffmann and Stefano Lisci hand over 300 mouth and nose protective masks and 120 masks with FFP2 protection standard to the district association Landau of the German Red Cross, Germany.

QMatrix GmbH was founded in 2013 by Stefano Lisci and Tobias Hoffmann and supports customers worldwide in the areas of quality management, project management, interim management, supplier management, auditing as well as logistics and process optimization.

With this donation, the managing directors also would like to encourage other companies to support the German Red Cross in this difficult situation. "In the end, from this help benefits everyone. In this difficult situation, society must now stick together. Only together we are stronger and can fight the pandemic," explains Tobias Hoffmann.

Peter Wollny, 1st Vice President of the Landau DRK, is more than pleased about this donation because the paramedics are dependent on protective equipment. „We can only help, as long as the helpers are equipped with the appropriate protection measures,” Peter Wollny.

"In the fight against the corona virus, the masks are very valuable to protect our employees, volunteers and the residents of Landau and the region Südliche Weinstrasse," explains district manager Tanja Melzer. „The Red Cross Landau is responsible for its own protective equipment. Unfortunately, the prices have risen many times over. Therefore, we are calling for support and have set up a donation account which is exclusively used for the use and management of the COVID-19 situation,” he adds.
